South West Homes For Sale

With years of experience helping local buyers and sellers just like yourself, we know how to locate the finest properties and negotiate the best deals. It's our job to know about the latest market conditions, government regulations, and upcoming developments.

Selling a house on your own can be an overwhelming task. There's advertising to plan and budget for, open houses and private showings to arrange, purchase offers to negotiate, contract contingencies to worry about, and complicated paperwork to fill out. Make it easy on yourself by putting your home in the hands of seasoned.

Edmonton Real Estate Source

Welcome to Edmontonrealestate.biz, your source for the most up-to-date listings of Edmonton homes for sale. The sophisticated search tools on this website will make finding your dream home easier. If you already know where in Edmonton you want to live, you'll find our map search a really useful tool for identifying what's on the market in that area.

Or you can refine your search by property type—condos and townhomes or single-family homes; age—new construction only; or any of a host of other criteria. And if you're new to Edmonton, we're aiming to make this site your one-stop-shop for information on Edmonton neighbourhoods.

University Area

The University of Alberta condos differ greatly in age, price, features, and condo fees associated with them, and can be of both the apartment style and the townhouse style variety. If you are looking for a condo in a building only a few years old (or even just one year), the University Area offers plenty of options, and the prices range from around $170,000 to over $1 million. The condo fees would vary greatly as well, from under $500 per month to over $1,500.

Being in the centre of all the action happening within the University Area community means not having to search far for education, shopping, entertainment and other day to day needs. School-wise, you will find Windsor Park School.
